

FAX YOUR OWN ADVENTURE

Costume Time

After talking with the wannabe superhero for a while you come to learn that his name is Mark Bates, and aside from his costume obsession he seems like a nice enough guy.

It turns out Mark has been working on this project called Buffalo and he is desperately looking for a mascot. He even purchased a little buffalo outfit, but it is too small for him.

After looking over the costume you are certain it won't fit you, but as luck would have it your gopher companion fit in it perfectly. Mark quickly snapped a few photos, mumbling something about Ashley McNamara designing the best buffalo costume ever.

Many great times are had with Mark and pals, but you eventually find yourself on the last night of your stay.
